POINTS ABOUT NEW YORK

NEW YORK—THE HUB CITY OF THE WORLD

A CITY OF 8,000,000 POPULATION

WITHIN THE CIVIC ZONE

NEW YORK CITY is the world's wonder city with a myriad of attractions. As a modern city of interest New York is without a rival in the new or old world. In addition to the city itself there are many attractive nearby cities.

New York is now the largest city in the world. It has 8,000,000 residents; within twenty miles distance are 12,000,000 or one-tenth the population of the United States. In this district more people live than in the eight largest cities of the country, excepting New York, or in the entire Dominion of Canada.

New York City leads all others in grandeur and architectural beauty of its municipal, governmental, and commercial buildings. Its Hotels are the most luxurious in America, and not excelled even by the greatest in Europe. Its Theatres are the best and its Churches are the most sublimely grand. Its Museums contain priceless art treasures.

New York is the financial center of United States and shares with London the financial leadership of the world. It has more magnificent shops than can be found elsewhere on the globe. Its wholesale houses are the greatest in any country. It has hundreds of notable office buildings, chief among which are the Flatiron, Singer, Equitable, Metropolitan, and Woolworth, the last mentioned being the loftiest inhabited structure in the world, 780 feet high.

TRANSPORTATION

Its two great railroad terminals, subways, bridges, river-tunnels, afford direct connection with practically every great transportation line by which you can reach 80% of all cities without changing your sleeping car.

POINTS ABOUT BOSTON

A CITY OF 2,000,000 POPULATION WITHIN THE METROPOLITAN ZONE

Boston is the capital of Massachusetts and the largest city in New England, of which it is the financial, commercial, social, transportation, educational and amusement center. It is historically one of the most interesting and most important cities in the United States. It is famous for its many beautiful suburbs.

Metropolitan Boston, made up of about 40 different cities and towns included in a circle within a radius of 12 miles, has a population of 2,000,000, which makes it the fourth largest city in the United States, and the tenth in the world.

Boston is the business center of the most highly developed industrial district in the United States. This district, covering a radius of 25 miles, includes many of the great manufacturing industries which make Massachusetts first of all the states in boots and shoes, cotton goods, worsteds, and woolen goods, and one of the leaders in leather, confectionery, rubber and other industries.

The value of the output of her 4,319 factories, for the last year for which figures are available was $1,240,496,193.

Boston's wool trade is second only to that of London. As a wholesale fish market, it ranks first in the world. Boston is also a prominent publishing center.

Boston is the third seaport of the country and in imports is second only to New York. It has a fine harbor and two deep ship channels. Extensive waterfront improvements costing $10,000,000 are under way. Many transatlantic and coastwise steamship lines have their terminals at Boston, connecting with Liverpool, London, Hamburg, Glasgow, the chief Mediterranean ports and the West Indies.

LEADING CONVENTION CITY

Boston is a leader among the convention cities of the country. It is the most interesting city historically in the United States. Its parks, fine roads and residence districts are unrivalled. Its climate is ideal and the city is surrounded by beaches and pleasure resorts of every kind. Its hotels are unsurpassed, theatres and stores equal to any city, convention halls of every size, and transportation facilities of the best.

Hotel and other business interests have combined with the Chamber of Commerce and formed a Convention Bureau. This Bureau is prepared to furnish all sorts of information relative to hotel accommodations—for rooms and banquets, halls for Convention headquarters and meeting purposes, and other data pertaining to Conventions and New England touring.
